NOTICE TO APPLICANTS CONCERNING LICENSE PURVEYORS

You may be contacted by individuals or businesses who offer to help you get a dealer's license in return for a fee. The Motor Vehicle Board refers to these individuals or businesses as License Purveyors and will not accept applications from them.

Please note that your attorney or CPA is not considered to be a license purveyor because of the requirements of their professional relationship with their clients.

License purveyors do not have a special relationship with the Motor Vehicle Division. Despite any claims they may make to you, they cannot speed up the processing of an application or guarantee when a license will be issued. The Texas Administrative Code, § 8.86 (Sub-Chapter C) prohibits the Motor Vehicle Division staff from dealing directly with license purveyors, so using the services of this third party may actually delay the processing of your application.

Based on our experience with thousands of applications, license purveyors do not do a better job of filling out an application than you can do yourself. In fact, license purveyors make the same kinds of mistakes and make those mistakes just as often as prospective dealers do. We suggest you carefully consider this before paying someone to do what you can do as well or possibly better.

The Motor Vehicle Division provides forms, information, and answers to questions for free. We urge you to read the application forms carefully, because the instructions provided with the forms should answer most of your questions. However, if you still aren't sure about something, please call or write to us at the phone number or address listed above for application assistance.
