

Declining Purchasing Power of the State Highway Fund

The chart below shows that motor fuel tax revenue has generally risen as more people move to and drive in Texas. But highway construction costs have risen more sharply – reducing the state's purchasing power for road construction projects.

